PROF. C. W. ROGERS,

THE WORLD'S RENOWNED

PUNCH AND JUDY PERFORMER,

Will open his Southern Museum in this city next week.

Prof. Rogers has the only show of the kind that merits the name. Don't confound it with the shows that were trying to imitate him. Last year he had an eight-footed horse. His company now consists of himself, Sig. Santelle, the famous Wizzard and Ventriloquist, M'lle Selina Bedar, the Circassian Beauty, Panorama of the World, Little Ben, only nine inches high, the Wooden Headed Men, Tom and Joe. Admission, only 10 cents.

MILITARY NEWS.—The following odrer has just been issued:

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS,
STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
RALEIGH, March 17th, 1879

[GENERAL ORDERS No. 39.]

1. The following companies are hereby constituted the Third Regiment of Infantry, North Carolina State Guard, and will be designated by letter as follows, viz:

Company A, Winston Light Infantry.
" B, Roanoke Light Infantry.
" C, Albemarle Guards.
" D, Durham Light Infantry.
" E, Jarvis Light Infantry.
" F, Anderson Rifles.
" G, Perquimans Light Inft'y.
" H, Cox Rifles.
" I, Vance Rifles.
" K, Beaufort Light Infantry.

II. The commissioned officers of the companies above named will assemble at Weldon, on Wednesday, the 23rd day of April next, and elect a Colonel, Lieutenant-Colonel, and Major for said Regiment.

III. This election will be held in accordance with the regulations prescribed in General Orders No. 36, heretofore published; except as to section 10 of that order, which section is, for this election, suspended, in consideration of the fact that several of the companies composing the Third Regiment are not yet uniformed.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

A Few Brief Remarks About Ransom, Vance, Steele, Hyman and Brogden.

NORTH CAROLINA OFFICIALS MUST BE REMOVED TO SAVE THE RADICAL PARTY.

A LIGHT SKIRMISH—EDMUNDS THE MAD LION—BLACKBURN MAY OR MAY NOT—RANDALL PUNISHETH HIS OPPONENTS STEEL THE BOLD CANDID CONGRESSMAN—WHAT RANSOM AND VANCE THINK—IT MAY BE JUNE OR JULY—4,000 DEAD BILLS—EVERETT HOT ON THE TRACK—HYMAN IMPORTUNES VANCE AND RANSOM—A DRY BONE BETTER THAN NO BONE AT ALL.

Special Correspondence of the News.

WASHINGTON, March 21.

THE FIRST SKIRMISH

in the Senate between the Democratic majority and Republican minority took place to-day on a resolution being offered by a Democratic Senator calling on the Secretary of the Treasury to furnish an itemized statement of the amount of money paid to United States Marshals within a specified time. This brought Colklin to his feet, and Edmunds rose like and came to his rescue. The debate was participated in by Thurman, Kenan, Eaton and Wallace, on the resolution and a strict party vote was taken. Edmunds has been in the habit of ruling so long, he found it hard to make the close yoke of Democratic rule fit his temper and vindicative nature. This was the opening of coming scenes when the bill to repeal the election clause came up. The Senate adjourned until Monday next. A short session of the House was held and adjouned until Tuesday in order to give the Speaker time to arrange the Committees.

A MADDENED LION,

MUCH SPECULATION

if going on among the knowing one as to who will be made chairman of the most important committees, some of Kandalls friends say he will be very liberal towards those who fought him for the Speakership. some have drawn in their imagination so far as to assert that he will assign Blackburn as chairman of the appropriation committee, whilst on the other hand those who know Randall best, say that he

WILL NOT SPARE THE KNIFE

to those who opposed him, which is probably true judging from the past we must anticipate the future. Representative Steele was the only member who objected to making Randall's nomination unanimous in caucus. He has been much complimented by the press for the bold stand he took in standing up to what he said and believed to be right. He voted against Randall from principle and did not yield in any other direction. He is said to be the man in Congress, when he believes he is right.

BOLDEST AND MOST CANDID

Various speculations are afloat as to how long the extra session will last and the class of legislation that will be brought up for consideration.

SENATOR RANSOM

whose opinions are always worthy of the highest consideration says he thinks Congress should transact such business as it was called together for by the President and adjourn.

SENATOR VANCE

entertains similar views. In the house there is a division of opinion most of the new members want to go into general legislation and prolong the session

UNTIL JUNE OR JULY.

Mr. Stephens, of Georgia, thinks it best to do something to relieve the country from such distress and, that can only be done by Congress taking action in some important measures which has been pressed time and again for final action. Over four thousand bills have died with the last Congress, none of which can never become laws unless they are introduced again.

STATE SENATOR EVERETT, of North Carolina, called on the President yesterday with ex-Congressman Brogden, and presented a memorial numerously signed by Republicans of the State and members of the legislature. The memorial sets forth that unless certain United States officials are removed in the State, the cause of Republicanism is dead.

JOHN HYMAN, THE LATE NEGRO

Congressman, from North Carolina, called on Senators Vance and Ransom, to-day, asking them to assist him in getting some government position. The number of ex-Congressman around the Capitol might rightly be called legion. They are willing to take the dryest bone if a better can't be had.

He is also candidate for the presidency.

A Practice that Should Cease.

Mariotta Journal.

As Judge Leater truly says; "Pistols were not made to hunt with, but evidently to kill somebody with." When the practice becomes more disreputable and punishment swifter, then society will enjoy greater protection and fewer homicides will be committed. If you have been in the habit of carrying a pistol, go and lay it away on the shelf and let it stay there until you "go west."

Rice and Tilden.

Frederick (Md.) Times.

If Americus Vespucius Rice is the Democratic nominee for Governor of Ohio the canvass will be a thoroughly Anti-Tilden one. Mr. Rice has small opinion of Tilden's courage and financial opinions, and says the party has had Tilden influence enough for the present. Talk like that will shut off all contributions from the barrel for the Ohio campaign.

THE EXTENT TO WHICH AUTHORS, POETS AND STATESMEN HAVE BEEN SWAYED BY THE TENDER PASSION.

Troy Times.

It is an old saying, "Whom first we love we never wed," and this, though not strictly true, may be applied to Scott, Byron, George Washington and many other men of note. It is interesting to observe how poets generally present their love matters to the public. The personal experience of such men will crop out. Scott, for instance, fell deeply in love in early life with a girl of an aristocratic family, and as he was then merely a poor barrister there was no prospect of success. His father knowing this, and being desirous to bring the matter to a close, suggested to the parents the propriety of terminating the acquaintance, and this was done in the least painful manner. The lady was the only daughter of Sir John Stewart, of Forfarshire, and she afterward married Sir William Forbes, the noted Edinburg banker. As Scott was a well-educated young man, of the fine personal appearance and agreeable manners, there could be but little reason for giving the banker preference except his wealth and social rank. Scott felt this keenly through life; in "Rokeby" he revives the episode at some length. Matilda, the heroine of the poem, represents the object of his love, who there rejects a poet in favor of one of higher rank and this scene becomes doubly interesting as a picture of Scott's early experience. In 1811 Lady Forbes died, but she had lived long enough to see the once penniless barrister the first poet in Scotland. Her death was deeply felt by Scott, for although he had been married for twelve years the old flame was not extinguished. "Rokeby" appeared next year, and Lockart says "that there is nothing wrought out in all Scott's prose more exquisite than the contrast between the rivals for the hand of the heroine." Six years afterward Scott wrote thus to Miss Edgeworth: "Matilda was attempted for the person of a lady who is now no more, so that I am flattered with your distinguishing it." As this took place nearly twenty years after the disappointment, it illustrates the tenacity with which the author held to his first love. When Lady Forbes died Scott was so affected that he called on her mother, and both fell to weeping over the sad affair. It is a curious incident in domestic history to see a man carrying his first love so tenderly through life, while married to another woman to whom he always showed great attachment. Scott evidently made Matilda the ideal or dream wife who accompanied him till the last. Having recovered from the worst effects of his disappointment, he met a French girl whose father had saved both life and fortune by fleeing from the dangers of the revolution. At the time referred to Miss Carpentier (or Carpenter) was an orphan, and to her Scott transferred his affections, as far as this was possible. He appeared, as has been said, much attached to his wife through life, and sincerely mourned her death. She was, however, intellectually and physically inferior to the Scottish ladies of that day, and the rapid degeneracy of the family may in some degree be ascribed to so unfavorable a union.

Jefferson, the author of the declaration, was also subject to early disappointment. His first love was Virginia a maiden of reputable family named Rebecca Burwell. The latter, however, preferred a young man named Robinson, and Jefferson, like most sensitive youths, keenly felt the loss of one whom he tenderly loved. He afterward married Martha Shelton, an attractive widow of twenty-two, and the union proved one of rare happiness. It lasted, however, only ten years, at the end of which Jefferson was left a widower with two daughters—four others having died in early childhood. Of these daughters Maria married John W. Epps, while Martha became the wife of Thomas Randolph. The latter thus describes the care which her father bestowed on his dying wife: "For four months, during which she lingered, he was never out of call. A moment before the closing scene he was led from the room in a fainting condition by his sister, and was so overcome that it was feared he would not recover. He kept his bed three week after the funeral, and required my constant attention." Jefferson was evidently a man of deep tenderness, and after his death there was found in his drawer a lock of hair from each of his dead children, which he had kept as sacred memorials. Though only thirty-nine when he lost his wife, he never married again, and remained for forty-four years a widower. Washington and Franklin both married widows. The former fell in love with Martha Custis on first sight, and having been disappointed in his expectation of the hand of Mary Morris, he urged his suit until it was successful. He adopted his wife's children and his married life was one of unbroken harmony. Franklin's case was rather peculiar. During his early life in Philadelphia he paid attention to Miss Reed, but afterward went to London, where he remained several years. During the separation he neglected Miss Reed in a manner which he himself afterward condemned. On his return he found that she had married, but her husband who had proven worthless, was gone on a voyage and supposed to be dead. Franklin's early love returned, and, being reinforced by sympathy, he asked her forgiveness and a renewal of her affections, which was readily granted. Jefferson was married at the age of twenty-nine. Washington was twenty-seven, while Franklin was only twenty-four. The latter says of his wife: "We prospered together and it was our mutual study to render each other happy. Thus I corrected, as well as I could, the error of my youth." This union continued for nearly forty years, and though Franklin was the survivor, he remained a widower. They are buried side by side in the old Philadelphia cemetery, and a huge slab which covers both graves bears the simplest inscription which Franklin could devise. While speaking of this subject it may be added that American statesmen have generally been married men, and the Presidential chair has never but once been occupied by a bachelor. It is said that Buchanan, like Irving, was disappointed in his early love, and it so it affords a pardonable reason for his celibacy. Another bachelor politician of some note was the late Preston King, formerly United States Senator, and also Collector of our port. To these instances is to be added that of Samuel J. Tilden.

Shakespeare was a eighteen married (no doubt through compulsion) to a woman eight years his senior. Before he reached manhood he was the father of three children, but he then deserted his family and sought a new abode in London. It is evident that this ill-adjudged marriage led him to the opinion that the advantage of years should be on the husband's side, an idea which is near expressed in "Twelfth Night," where the Duke says to Viola:

——Let still the woman take
An elder than herself; so wears she to him;
So sways she level in her husband's heart.

There are however, some very striking instances of a reversal of this order working harmoniously, and never ceased to mourn her death. When this occurred he was forty three, and yet he remained a widower, dying at the age of seventy-six. John Howard, when a very young man, married a widow twenty years his senior. This was an expression of his gratitude for her kindness and attention during a severe illness. They lived in great harmony until her death, which occurred a few years afterward. A second union was also sundered by death, and then Howard entered on that career of philanthropy which has rendered his name immortal. It may be added that John Wilkes, the noted political leader in London a century ago, married a woman ten years his senior. Mohammed's first and favorite wife, Cadijah, was fifteen years older than her husband. To this it might be added that the late Prince Albert was six months younger than his royal bride, and a happier union has never been known in all the history of Windsor Castle. The brilliant young Benjamin Disraeli married the widow of his friend and patron, Wyndham Lewis, twenty years his elder, and has remained since her death faithful to her memory.

Among these horrible perversions of matrimony which occasionally deform social history may be mentioned the instance of Dean Swift and Stella. The mystery of Swift's conduct has never been explained, but some have extenuated its worst features by the plea of life-long insanity. Stella (Miss Johnston) was induced to leave England and take up her residence near his own (in Dublin) in hopes of a speedy marriage. After seventeen years of painful delay she was allowed to become his wife, with the stipulation that they were still to live apart and never to meet except in the presence of a third person. The history of "Vannessa" also occurs in this connection, and may simply be mentioned as aggravating the horrible and unnatural baseness of Swift's character.

Southey loved Edith Fricker, but both were poor and he was obliged to leave home (Bristol) in order to accept an appointment in Portugal. Just before the vessel sailed, they formed their hands in matrimonial bonds, the reason being in order to permit the one to receive remittances from the other without scandal. Southey returned in six months, and the union thus begun in poverty was one of prolonged happiness. Coleridge married Sara Fricker, sister to Edith, but though more intense in his feelings than Southey, he was vastly his inferior in the duties of domestic life. It seems strange that the man who could write:

All thoughts, all passions, all delights,
Whatever stir this mortal frame,
Are but the ministers of love,
And feed his sacred flame, should desert his wife and family during half a lifetime. Only Southey's charity kept the latter from absolute want. Coleridge, however, was the slave of the opium habit, and this is sufficient to explain almost any degree of domestic neglect. Byron is another instance of one who could write beautifully concerning love, while his history proved how little he appreciated true womanhood.

Among those men of genious who felt the keen disappointment of their effections were Irving and Gibbon, both historians who afterward reached fame. Gray, the author of the "Elegy," died a bachelor of 55, and it is probable that he is a similar victim. Such at least is suggested by a line in that description of himself which marks the closing portion of the "Elegy."

Hard by yon wood, now smiling as in scorn,
Muttering his wayward fancies he would rove,
Now drooping, woeful, wan, like one forlorn,
Or crazed with care, or crossed in hopeless love.

As Gray was never "crazed with care," the latter clause in the verse is the only one that can be applied to his case. He was of a susceptible nature, but poverty stood in the way of a domestic life. He had a sure support as one of the "fellows" as one of Cambridge University, but this would have been forfeited by marriage. Goldsmith stands on the same list. He was in love with the beautiful Miss Herneck, whom he fondly termed the "Jessamine bride," but the slender and uncertain earnings of a London literateur in the eighteenth century were not sufficient to justify matrimony. Cowper, also, was disappointed in love, but he found a faithful friend in Mrs. Unwin, whose ministrations were of the most affectionate character.

Pope, who is also on the list of literary bachelors, had deep emotional powers, as is evident from some of his poems. It was a matter of tradition that he was much attached to Martha Blount, to whom he not only addressed a poem but bequeathed his entire estate. He, however, was an invalid, and spoke of his life as a "long disease," a fact which may have had great influence in keeping him a celibate. The most incorrigable and unpardonable bachelor of genius was Sir Joshua Reynolds, the famous painter, whose immense wealth deprived him of any such excuse as has just been mentioned. He was, however, intensely devoted to art, and had no room for any other object of the affections. On one occasion meeting Flaxman, who was then a young sculptor struggling for a position, he exclaimed, "Well, sir, I learn that you have married. If so, you are ruined for an artist." Flaxman, however, proved by his success that such was not the case.

The Labor Question.

This is one of the oldest questions known to political economy. The warfare between capital and labor has been going on for the last 4,000 years more or less and still raging. For bad blood take Rosadalis, the great Southern Remedy. Warranted to cure all scrofulous humors, erruptions, &c., and cleanse the system of all impurities.

A NEW HYMN BOOK.—We have examined the Hymn-Book recently issued, entitled "Calvary Selection of Spiritual Songs," and are pleased with the refreshing variety of hymns, and the carefully studied adaptation of the same to the tunes. It meets a longe felt want in the churches, viz., a book that shall be equally good for choir use or congregational praise. The general appearance of the book is neat, the music distinctly printed, and the arrangement of hymns and subject of hymns unusually fine, quite out of the ordinary routine. DAILY NEWS.

SUNDAY, - MARCH 23, 1879.

HUSSEY & JORDAN, Prop's.

JOHN B. HUSSEY, - Editor.

A DEMOCRAT is never too sick, well, hardly ever, for duty in a crisis.

REPUBLICANS are asking, "What became of all the sick Democratic Congressmen who couldn't possibly be in at the election of Speaker?"

SENATOR EVERETT is in Washington trying for a consulship. Everett is one of the brightest Republicans in the State, and his absence from the country would prove a blessing to the "Greensboro ring."

NOT the slightest perturbation, the minutest of earthquakes, not even a thunder growl announced the advent of a Democratic Senate and a Democratic House! We think Republicans had better give up nominating.

THE objection to Randall was that "he rewarded his friends and punished his enemies." That's what Robinson's committee tried to prove against the NEWS.

THE case of Senator Ingalls derives an additional tinge of sadness from the fact that the last barrel of Senatorial whitewash was exhausted on Stanley Matthews, The Senate is Democratic.

HAYES' message was short and shrewd. He regrets the necessity for the extra session, and feels sure that the country wants quiet, intimating that the country wants all the Republican laws on the statute books to remain there. The Republican party is out of power in Congress, and is anxious that no laws be made by Democrats, and that no Republican law be repealed. Having lost power itself to make laws, it says, "Let's stop making laws; let the laws remain as they are."

AMONG the novelties of our export trade the latest was a sale, last week, of one hundred tons of authracite pig iron to go to China. The Iron Age reports the demand for raw iron stronger than at any other time for the past five years. It is noticable that in the west, matters have not changed so much for the better as they have in the east and the conclusion is fair that as the panic started in the eastern markets and traveled slowly west so a revival of confidence is following the same way.

DESPITE the semi-official denial, usually well informed correspondents at Paris, of London papers, maintain that a ministerial modification is inevitable. Thus the Standard's correspondent says: "It is clear, whether before or after Easter, the fate of Mr. Waddington, the President of the Council will be sealed." An energetic campaign is being carried on against the ministers in one section of the Republican press. Thus M. Emile Girardin, in La France, continues to urge the necessity of a Gambetta Ministry. The Republique Francaise, M. Gambetta's organ, reiterates its complaints of the Government's weakness and lack of policy, and lays the blame on Waddington.

THE latest household economy, the heating of many buildings or practically a town by steam through distributing pipes from a central reservoir, is already proved a success in Springfield, Mass. The obvious advantages of the new departure have been pointed out, one of the greatest being the prevention of such fires as that which gutted a Street-house the other morning. Legislation is now sought allowing the organization of new companies to supply heat, and permitting existing gas companies to add steam heating pipes to their equipment on a vote of four-fifths of the stockholders representing two-thirds of the stock. The rights necessary to the wholesale distribution of heat can very properly be granted now as serving an established public demand.

Washington.

LENGTH OF THE SESSION.

There is a feeling growing that the session will not last over a month. But few of the members have come prepared to stay longer, and the disposition is not to engage in any general legislation. There is a good deal of talk to the effect that the differences between the two Houses with respect to political legislation can be reconciled. The basis of compromise suggested is that the method of the appointment of Federal Supervisors shall be changed, so that both parties have equal reciprocity in the number appointed, and that the number of Deputy, Marshals be limited to the actual emergencies which require such service.

Senator Whyte, of Maryland, who is a member of the Democratic Caucus Committee on the Order of Business, has been very active in the movement, which also meets the approval of Senators Bayard, Lamar, Hill, Kenan, Ransom Vance and others. Senator Whyte said to-day that he thought the session would be short, and would not be extended because of differences of political legislation. The existing dead-lock, he thought, was of easy solution.

Senator Bayard, expressed the same belief, and thought the Democrats would accept any reasonable ground of compromise. He did not think the Democrats would insist upon alll that was demanded by them at the close of the last session. He thought the exciting political debate at that time made both parties more obstinate than they otherwise would have been.

Senator Thurman said that he was favor of a short session, but the only way it could be accomplished was for the Republicans to yield.

Senator Beck expressed himself in similar words.

But a majority of the Democratic Senators are in favor of some compromise, and they will accept an amendment of the Election laws so that Deputy Marshals shall not be allowed to make arrests without a warrant formally issued by a United States Commissioner, upon the information of at least one reputable citizen. Many of the Democrats prefer that the Supervisors should not be disturbed, but Thurman is bitterly opposed to allowing this law to remain on the statute book, and will not consent to any compromise that leaves the office of Supervisor as it at present exists.

Many of the Republicans of the "stalwart" order are unwilling to accept any compromise, even that proposed by the Democrats. They say that the laws as they now stand are well enough and to amend them is to weaken them. But more moderate Republicans, like Hawley and Garfield, are willing to yield something.

There are a great many Democrats of influence who do not want Congress to go through the form of repealing the Election laws in separate bills, which they know the President will veto, but they insist that the repeal, if it is attempted, shall be on the appropriation bills."

The Fish Interest.

The question is often put, does the fish venture by the Department of Agriculture pay? Notwithstanding the Commissioner of Agriculture has from time to time published reports of the progress and success of the work, the people have but little or no information on this point.

It can be clearly demonstrated by practical results, that this branch is one of the most important of the department's work. It is estimated that the salmon fish will net $100 profit and it is practicable to raise millions of them in this State. This item alone will prove a great money producing lever for this State.

We give a few extracts from Commissioner Polks, Hand Book, bearing on this point, which no doubt will be read with interest and profit.

"Since the artificial propagation of fish was begun in this State, May, 1877, very great success has been attained not only in the propagation of shad but also in the propagation and introduction of California salmon, land-locked salmon and brook trout. For the propagation of the latter varieties a cheap hatchery was built at Swannanoa Gap in Buncombe county, and two seasons of winter work have been completed.

The following quotations are from the recent Report of S. G. Worth, who has been in charge of the fish operations in our State for the past year."

"During the past twelve months, ending the 1st of April, 1879, we have released in the North Carolina waters over three and one-half millions of young shad, three hundred thousand California salmon, fifteen thousand five hundred land-locked salmon from Maine, and fifty thousand mountain or brook trout. All of this was done at an expense of less than three thousand dollars, and among the expenditures was a sum of not less than five hundred dollars in permanent structures and hatching and distributing apparatus, tools, &c., now on hand, including all salaries.

California salmon attain an average weight of twenty pounds, and sell readily at twenty-five cents a pound. If we suppose that ninety-nine per cent. of the three hundred thousand hatched this season are never heard from and that the one per cent. which do return attain the average weight of other waters and bring a price of five cents a pound, the salmon of the past season alone will more than pay the expense of the whole season, including the shad, land-locked salmon and trout. On examination of the nests of the California salmon it is found that only eight per cent. of the eggs are impregnated. By the artificial method of impregnation we secure ninety to ninety-five per cent. After impregnation by the natural method the eggs are left a prey to enemies of innumerable numbers. Shad eggs are exposed three to five days, and our common pond fishes twenty to thirty, and the salmon fifty to seventy. After hatching, these fish are helpless, some a few days, (shad a week) some for months, as in the case of salmon, mountain trout and fall-spawning fish generally. By the artificial methods they are not only almost entirely impregnated, but they are kept in cones, troughs and other vessels, and each day the dead removed and further communication of fungoid growth stopped. And when the young are ready to go out they are conveyed to head streams, where other fish are scarce and where cold water suppresses the numerous hosts of insects and crustaceans that abound in the lower and warmer waters We can see readily, that few eggs arrive at maturity, when we recall that one single sturgeon produces seven million and that a number less than ten thousand are taken annually in the Cape Fear. "If our people look this year for any return from what has been done, they must remember that the patient farmer sows his seed and waits till they have had time to develope and mature. No shad return in one year, and indeed no roe shad ever returned to fresh water till the third year.

"Long ago fish became scarce as the population of Europe increased and fish culture there is an established thing. Millions of fry are annually liberated from their hatching houses, and such judicious laws have been made as to foster and protect them."

The Paper Manufacture.

The Springfield Republican in a review of this important branch of commerce has the following to say: Statistics and facts of common observation alike throw doubt on the existence of any real exigency in the paper manufacture to justify the efforts to check production put forth during the fall and early winter. The mills at Holyoke, whose united production is greater than that of all the other paper mills in the United States put together, are all running on full time, and apparently all making money. New mills are also building. The imports of paper into this country have not been so small for a good many years; the exports were never larger. Imports have fallen from $1,326,460 in 1873 to $135,487 last year; exports rose in the same time from $662,332 to $1,165,511, the amount for the calendar year 1878. Meanwhile in England overproduction has seriously crippled the business, and the most enlightened manufacturers acknowledge that this country declines "to have them at any price." A convention of 50 mills in England and Scotland has recently decided that wages have got to be reduced and work hours lengthened to revive the business. News columns haue some interesting details of this business.

At the same time there are two many paper mills and some of them seriously crippled by the present situation. It is only the most favorably situated and improved mills which can make money in the present copetition, it is literally the survival of the fittest which is the inexorable result, just as in the iron trade many old and ill-favored furnaces were kept going by the brisk business whose fires went out in 1874-5, never to be relighted. In the case of paper mills, utter abandonment may not follow, but such a shrinkage of capital as makes a tolerable dividend out of a modest net earning. The time when the profits of the paper business could pay for the mill in a year or two have gone probably forever.

STATE PRESS.

ENOUGH GOOD.

Wilson Advance.

Whatever blunders it may have committed, the Legislature of 1879 has accomplished enough good to deserve, at least, the gratitude of the State.

SOME PATRIOTISM.

Albemarle Times.

The Legislature adjourned on Friday last, after working six days beyond the time allowed by law for them to draw pay. This shows that there is some patriotism in the old land yet, and that the per diem is not altogether the only consideration for the services of its members.

THE APPLAUSE OF THE PEOPLE.

Wilson Advance.

They have reduced the salaries of all State officials, have cut down the appropriations to all public institutions, and have had the nerve and energy to make arrangements for the adjustment of the State debt by scaling it from $27,000,000 to $7,000,000, which act alone shows that they had the interest of the State at heart, and which, more than any other, entitles them to the applause of the people throughout the entire State.

MORE OR LESS GOOD.

Franklin Times.

Portions of this great number of representatives were good men, and by their good, practical judgment, and unbounding influence, a number of useful laws were enacted. Perhaps there were some things done which ought not to have been done, and some things left undone, which ought to have been done. But taking all things into consideration, the shortness of the session, etc., we think the Legislature of 1879 has done well.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Warrenton Gazette.

After a more careful consideration, we are inclined to think the late General Assembly accomplished more than was at first supposed. It evidently enacted some unwise laws, but a good deal of its legislation was highly important and beneficial. If it had only levied a reasonable tax on dogs and taxed bar rooms for each drink sold, it It would indeed have done well.

A CREDITABLE ASSEMBLAGE.

Oxford Free Lance.

The record of the Legislature is now before the public for approval or condemnation. Notwithstanding it committed a number of acts which could better have been left undone and omitted to do some which the necessities of times demanded, yet, upon the whole, it was a creditable assemblage worth an average intelligence of the State. While it has not been accused of possessing within its ranks an extra amount of wisdom or learning, neither, on the other hand has it been charged with want of devotion to the real interests of the people or a desire to shirk its due measure of labor and responsibility.

Poisoned by Stramonium,

Terre Haute, Cor. N. Y, Herald.

A horrible discovery was made today by Samuel Crandall, a farmer living a few miles south of the city. He was informed that the family of Thomas Stanly were very sick and they desired his help. He immediately started for their house and found, to his horror, that the family, consisting of eight persons, father and mother and six children, were poisoned and that death would be the result. A physician was summoned and upon investigation it was found that they had, through some mistake, mixed Jamestown weed (datura stramonium) with their food and that all had partaken of it. Stanley died to-night and the others are not expected to survive the morrow. The rest of the unfortunate family have been taken to the poor-house.

Only In Fun This Time.

Washington Republican.

The compliment bestowed upon Mr. Rainey, of South Carolina, in the Republican nomination for the Clerkship of the House, was no empty tender. It was a recognition of his intellectual merit and political integrity, deserved as well by his personal abilities as by the fact that he is entitled to high rank a leading colored Republican. Perhaps the compliment may be repeated in earnest in 1884.

The early bird catches the worm, and sometimes a bad cold, which however does no injustice to the old proverb, for with the aid of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup colds are of no consequence. Price, 25 cents.

Better be Sure than Sorry.

These words were the answer of a garden-worker when his employer expressed a doubt about the necessity of certain vegetation from threatened frost; "Better be sure than sorry."

When we see a professing Christian hesitating about engaging in some employment or amusement of doubtful character in its effect on spiritual life and influence, we think of the wise poor man's caution, "Better be sure than sorry." And when we hear the skeptic cavil or the scorner laugh over that question which put all others in shadow, "Where shall I spend eternity?" to the same warning we seem to listen, "Better be sure than sorry," and that for ever.

What amazing risks are taken every moment on the interests of the soul! And what blight falls silently as that of night on the most precious buds of promise in the heart's immortal garden, to be followed by the frost of the second death!

How They do in Texas.

A MAN SHOT DEAD FOR DEFENDING A WOMAN.

DALLAS, Texas, March 20, 1879.

One of the most brutal and cold blooded murders ever reported occurred at Marshall early this morning. The principal victim is a Northern actor. The members of the Ward-Barrymore combination went to the depot to take the train going North at two o'clock A. M., on their way out of the State after an engagement of several weeks in the principle cities. During the evening "Diplomacy" had been rendered at the theatre. Maurice Barrymore, Benjamin C. Porter and Miss Josephine Baker went into the restaurant adjoining the waiting room to get refreshments. In the rear of this room is a saloon with a door open between. James Currie, a Texas Pacific Railroad detective, was seated alone in this saloon, where he could see the parties in the restaurant. Shortly after the entrance of the above named persons Currie called out:—

"That's a high-toned——you have with you."

Barrymore replied, "You are mistaken there; this is a lady under our protection. You must not insult her;" and added touching Currie's evident intoxication, "We don't want to have any trouble with you."

Currie rose to his feet and, advancing, said, "Will you take it up?"

Barrymore answered, "No; we don't want to take it up at all. We are both unarmed, leave us alone."

Currie walked nearer, and with the words, "I don't like to be talked to in this way," drew a six shooter and fired, the ball passing through Barrymore's left arm and through the upper part of his chest, coming out below the shoulder at the back. At this Porter stepped up, and placing his hand on Currie's shoulder said, "Come, now, you've had enough of this." With an oath Currie threw the revolver down against Porter's body and fired again, the ball in this instance going through Porter's abdomen and coming out at the back. A bystander then stepped forward, and Currie also fired at him, but missed. Porter sank to the floor in an unconscious condition. He lived only fifty minutes afterward. Barrymore's wound is painful, but it is not considered dangerous. After the shooting Currie drew a second revolver, and with one at full cock in each hand defied arrest. There had been no witness to the affair except the bar-keeper and Miss Baker.

A policeman, an old man, without arms, entered soon after, when Currie put up his revolvers and quietly submitted arrest.

If Ben Expects.

New York Star.

If Ben Butler expects to be elected President of the United States by the votes of female citizens he must not attempt to bulldoze the Widow Oliver. She seems to have a good case against the gay old deceiver Simon, and it will go hard with Ben's Presidential prospects if he denies her fair play.

Can't Stop It.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

A short session of Congress seems to be desired in Washington, and expected; but when Congress once gets started it may be in vain to end. "Whoa."

Two.

Two ways:

One broad, the other narrow; the one leads to destruction, the other to life. Many go by the one, few by the other.

Which is your way?

Two classes of people:

The righteous and the wicked, the wheat and the chaff, the living and the dead.

Which are you?

Two deaths:

The death of the righteous, and the death of the wicked.

Which do you think will die? Which do you wish to die? Which would it be if you were to die this moment?

Two sides at the judgment:

The right hand and the left. Only these two. Those on the right hand will be blessed: "Come, ye blessed." Those on the left hand will be cursed: "Depart from me, ye cursed," "And these shall go away into everlasting punishment; but the righteous into life eternal."

All must appear before the judgment seat of Christ, to receive for the things done in the body, whether they be good or bad.

Reader, what word shall be spoken to you? On which side of the throne will you stand?

A Word to the Ladies.

Ladies, perhaps it would be best for you to make it an invariable rule to refuse every man who asks your hand in marriage. Of course we know that it is your general rule already, but now and then, semi-rarely though it be, one of you accidentally forgets herself and marries a man. Now, there was that bachelor over in Manchester, England, who had proposed to and been rejected by thirty different women. He died the other day, leaving his property to be divided equally among those who had jilted him. The reason for this bequest, which he stated in his will, was that he felt himself in their debt, for it was to their opportune refusals that he owed the peace which he enjoyed through life.

The Insanity Plea Repudiated.

Detroit Free Press.

Chicago presents the insanity plea in a new light. In a case tried last week where the defendant was charged with murder, it was practically admitted that the defendant was insane and the jury to found. His counsel insisted however, that the trial should cover the ground of murder, so that the defendant might not have the accusation hanging over him in case he should desire to run for alderman at any time in the future. Precisely how or why such an accusation would injure a candidate for the position of alderman in Chicago, the case did not disclose.

Vegetine

FOR

CHILLS, SHAKES,

FEVER AND AGUE.

TAREORO, N. C., 1873.

DR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Der Sir,—I feel very grateful for what your valuable medicine, Vegetine, has done in my family. I wish to express my thanks by informing you of the wonderful cure of my son; also, to let you know that Vegetine is the best medicine I ever saw for Chills, Shakes, Fever and Ague. My son was sick with measles in 1873, which left him with hip-joint disease. My son suffered a great deal of pain, all of the time; the pain was so great he did nothing but cry. The doctors did not help him a particle, he could not lift his foot from the floor, he could not move without crutches. I read your advertisement in the "Louisville Courier-Journal," that Vegetine was a great Blood Purifier and Blood Food. I tried one bottle, which was a great benefit. He kept on with the medicine, gradually gaining. He has taken eighteen bottles in all, and he is completely restored to health, walks without crutches or cane. He is twenty years of age. I have a younger son, fifteen years of age, who is subject to chills. Whenever he feels one coming on, he comes in, takes a dose of Vegetine and that is the last of the Chill. Vegetine leaves no bad effect upon the system like the most of the medicines recommended for Chills. I cheerfully recommend Vegetine for such complaints I think it is the greatest medicine in the world.

Respectfully, MRS. J. W. LLOYD.

VEGETINE.—When the blood becomes lifeless and stagnant, either from change of weather or of climate, want of exercise, irregular diet, or from any other cause, the Vegetine will renew the blood, carry off the putrid humors, cleanse the stomach, regulate the bowels, and impart a tone of vigor to the whole body.

Vegetine

FOR

DYSPEPSIA, NERVOUSNESS AND

GENERAL DEBILITY.

BERNARDSTON, MASS., 1878.

We, the undersigned, having used Vegetine, take pleasure in recommending it to all those troubled with Humors of any kind or Dyspepsia, Nervousness, or General Debility, it being the Great Blood Purifier. Sold by R. L. Crowell & Sons, who sell more of it than all other patent medicines put together.

MRS. L. F. PERKINS,
MRS. H. W. SCOTT,
JOSEPHUS SLATE

Vegetine is the great health restorer—composed exclusively of barks, roots, and herbs. It is very pleasant to take; every child likes it.

NERVOUS HEADACHE

and Rheumatism.

CINCINNATI, O., April 9, 1877.

H. R. Stevens Esq.:

Dear Sir,—I have used your Vegetine for Nervous Headache, and also for Rheumatism, and have found entire relief from both and take great pleasure in recommending it to all who may be likewise afflicted,

FRED. A. GOOD,
108 Mill St., Cincinnati.

Vegetine has restored thousands to health who had been long and painful sufferers.

VEGETINE

Druggists' Testimony.

Mr. H. R. Stevens:—

Dear Sir,—We have been selling your remedy; the Vegetine for about three years, and take pleasure in recommending it to our customers, and in no instance where a blood purifier would reach the case, has it ever failed to effect a cure, to our knowledge. It certainly is the ne plus ultra of renovators.

Respectfully,
E. M. SHEPHERD & CO., Druggists,
Mt. Vernon, Ill.

Is acknowledged by all classes of people to be the best and most reliable blood purifier in the world.

Sanford's Series Analytical Arithmetics

AND

Worcester's Dictionary

Sanford's Series comprises four books, and is based upon the analytic system:

Sanford's First Lessons in Analytical Arithmetic, 16 mo., 27 cents.

Sanford's Intermediate Analytical Arithmetic, 16mo., 232 pp. Half bound, 45 cents.

Sanford's Common School Analytical Arithmetic, 355 pp. Half roan, 80 cents.

Sanford's Higher Analytical Arithmetic. 8mo., 419 pp. Half roan. Cloth sides, $1.25.

The definitions are clear, and the analyses exhaustive. The work is practical, and abounds in slate exercises. The experience of a large number of the best teachers in this country, is that, with Sanford in hand, pupils discover an unwonted enthusiasm in studying the science of numbers.

The Complete Series of Worcester's Dictionaries.

Quarto Dictionary. Illustrated and Unabridged. Library sheep, $10.

Octavo (Universal and Critical,) Dictionary. Library sheep, $4.25.

Academic Dictionary. Crown 8vo. Half roan, $1.88.

Comprehensive Dictionary, Illustrated, 12 mo Half roan, $1.75.

School (Elementary) Dictionary. 12mo, Half roan, $1.

Primary Dictionary. Illustrated 16mo. Half roan, 60 cents.

Pocket Dictionary. Illustrated 24mo Cloth 63 cents; roan, 8x10½, 85 cents, roan, tucks, gilt edges, $1.

Many special aids to students, in addition to a full pronouncing and defining vocabulary, make the above-named books, in the opinion of our most distinguished educators, the most complete as well as by far the cheapest Dictionaries of our language.

Worcester's School Dictionaries are based upon the quarto, which is preferred to all others by eminent scholars and men of letters. The series is admirably adapted to use in Schools, Academies, &c.

☞ Liberal terms for introduction. We desire that Sanford and Worcester be examined by County Boards and principals of private schools. Correspondence solicited.

We invite attention of Teachers to Chauvenet's Mathematics, Cutter's Physiology; in a word, all our School publications. Circulars and descriptive catalogue furnished on application.

VEST POCKET CURE

25 DYSPEPSIA 25

CLERGY & DOCTORS TESTE:

It is an excellent corrective of Indigestion. I have used it with prompt beneficial results.

Rev. Dr. Mangum, Prof. Univ. of N. C.

I concur with Bishop Doggett in his estimate of the Vest Pocket Cure.

Rev. Drs. Jeter, Broaddus, Dickinson, (Bap.)

It is endorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strictness of speech. It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and approval of the preparation by well-known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question, a wonderful therapeutical agent.—Baptist Religious Herald, Va.

Chaplain Randolph Macon College, Va.

Many cases of Dyspepsia within my knowledge have been cured by it. Cramps, Colics, Headaches and all sorts of pains from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort are numerous.

Rev. R. L. Dabney, L. L. D. Ham. Sid. Col., Va.

It is highly esteemed here by the regular Medical Faculty and the people. It is excellent for indigestion and Flatulent Colic, sedative, soporific, tonic, slightly apericent, without nausea.

Rev. B. F. Woodward, P. E., Na. Conf.

About twelve years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Failing in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could eat anything with impunity. I am sure I am indebted to this medicine for what of health and physical comfort I have had for the last sixteen years. I have known many since to be relieved by its use.

Rev Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va.

I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hurt. I have recommended it to other sufferers with happiest results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew. For prostration from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable.

J. D. Eggleston, M. D., Va.

It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single article in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints in families from indigestion. I use it and recommend it.

Editor Richmond Christian Advocate.

This remedy is of tried virtue. I have seen Dyspepsia cured completely by it. It seems to be an antidote to our "National Disease." The ingredients are not kept by the apothecaries, and have been difficult to get.

A Sermon for the Sisters.

I nebber breaks a colt afore he's old enough to trabble;
I nebber digs my taters till dey plenty big to grabble;
An' when you see me risin' up to struc-
tify in meetin',
I's fust clumb up de knowledge-tree and done some apple-eatin'.

I see some sistahs pruzint, migh'y proud o' whut dey wearin'.
It's well you is'nt apples, now, you better be declarin'!
For when you heerd yo' markit-price,
't'd hurt yo' little feelin's.
You wouldn't fetch a dime a peck, for all yo' fancy peelin's.

O sistahs—leetle apples (for you're r'a'lly mighty like 'em)—
I lubs de ol-time russets, dough it's suldom I kin strike 'em.
An' so I lubs you sistahs, for yo' grace
an' not yo' graces—
I don't keer how my apples looks, but on'y how it tas'es.

Is dey a Sabbaf-scholah heah? Den let him 'form his mudder
How Jacobs-in-de-Bible's boys played off upon dey brudder!
Dey sol' him to a trader—an at las' he struck de prison:
Dat comed ob Joseph's struttin' in dat streaked coat ob his'n.

My Christian frien's, dis story proobes dat eben men is human—
He'd had a dozen fancy coa's, ef he'd a been a 'oman!
De cussedness ob showin' off, he foun'
out all about it:
An' yit he waz a Christian man, as good as ever shouted.

It larned him! An' I bet you when he come to giv' his riches
Dey don't go for stylish coats or Philadelphy breeches;
He didn't was'e his money when ex-
perunce taught him better,
But went aroun' a lookin' like he's waitin' for a letter!

Now, sistahs, won't you copy him?
Say, won't you take a lesson,
An' mine dis sollum wahnin' 'bout de sin ob fancy dressin'?
How much yo' spen' upon yo'self I wish you might remember
Yo' preacher ain't bin paid a cent

Frittering Away Opportunities.

Washington Post.

Seven times the Republicans had a chance to elect a "nigger" Clerk, and seven times they didn't do it. On the other hand, the first chance they had of stealing all the "niggers" money they improved it by a device known as the Freedman's Bureau Saving Bank. Smart fellows, these Radicals, and "devilish sly."

Going Against U. D.

New York Tribune.

The tide seems to be setting against Your Uncle Dick in Ohio. Americus Vespucius Rice looms as the Democratic candidate, being especially strong as a one-legged soldier. If it were not so brutal it might be remarked that the party is shifting its affections from a wooden head to a wooden leg.

Let Sherman Alone.

Sandusky Register.

Ex-Governor Dennison is trying to revive the Sherman movement. He can't do it. As the Baltimore Gazette recently said, the Sherman movement could not swim the Ohio River, nor cross the mountains. Sherman is doing well where he is, and he should be let entirely alone.

They Want Their Back Money.

SCRANTON, PA., March 21.—The Miners of the Pennsylvania Anthracite Coal Company, threaten to prevent the resumption of work unless the wages due them is paid. Receiver McCabe hopes to compromise with them so that the work may be resumed and he be thereby enabled to pay them.

Albany Argus.

George W. Robeson will naturally be the Republican leader in the House of Representatives. His record exactly fits him for it, and that party has adhered to him steadfastly and loyally. The mere fact that he is charged with squandering $100,000,000 by the Democrats, and that his own party morally but manfully insists that the sum was only $53,000,000, does not interfere with his claims as a Radical leader. It enhances them.

Blackburn and Thurman.

Whitelaw Reid.

Mr. Blackburn, of Kentucky, is the one man before the country who most conspicuously embodies and represents in his own person the Southern idea and the Ohio idea—a combination for evil which is foreordained to be overwhelmed by an aroused people in 1880. Therefore, Mr. Thurman's latest blunder in supporting Blackburn for speaker is by all odds the biggest one.

The manner of detecting different nationalities. Place before each man a glass of beer, with a fly floating on the surface. A Spaniard will seize the glass, beer and fly, and fling them against the wall. A Frenchman will ask for a silver spoon, and carefully fish out the fly. An Englishman will take out the fly with the tips of his fingers and drink the beer. A German will swallow both at one draught. And last the Russian will seize the fly, masticate it, and pitch the beer down his throat.

The Conditions of Confederate Wilderness.

Mt. Gilead Union-Register.

The Republicans can take a full-fledged Confederate General, put him in the Cabinet, and then prove that he is not a dangerous animal; but just let a Democrat take hold of one, and he becomes a wild-cat.

Micawber Cox.

New York Commercial Advertiser.

Mr. Sunset Cox, it is represented, did not put in an appearance at the Democratic caucus. Mr. Cox, like Micawber, seems to be under a cloud at Washington, and is waiting for something to turn up.

Green Front Resturant, Hargett Street.

W. R. Pepper, Proprietor, keeps constantly on hand Jacob Segers' celebrated lager beer, always fresh on draught, also all of the best brands of both N. C., and Virginia whiskies, as well as the best Northern wines and liquors. The eating department is always supplied with the best, and served in style that cannot be surpassed. Call at Pepper's. *

MEDICINES.

45 Years Before the Public.

THE CENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER [illegible]

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

LIVER

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person (about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. MERRELL'S HEPATINE, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking HEPATINE in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

LUNGS

The fatality of Consumption or Throat and Lung Diseases, which sweep to the grave at least one-third of all death's victims, arises from the Opium or Morphine treatment, which simply stupefies as the work of death goes on. $10,000 will be paid if Opium or Morphine, or any preparation of Opium, Morphine or Prussic Acid, can be found in the GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP, which has cured people who are living to-day with but one remaining lung. No greater wrong can be done than to say that Consumption is incurable. GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP will cure it when all other means have failed. Also, Colds, Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and lungs. Read the testimonials of the Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, Gov. Smith and Ex-Gov. Brown of Ga., Hon. Geo. Peabody, as well as those of other remarkable cures in our book, free to all at the drug stores, and be convinced that if you wish to be cured you can be by taking the GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP. Take no Troches or Lozenges for Sore Throat, when you can get GLOBE FLOWER SYRUP at same price. For sale by all Druggists.

BLOOD

Grave mistakes are made in the treatment of all diseases that arise from poison in the blood. Not one case of Scrofula, Syphilis, White Swelling, Ulcerous Sores and Skin Disease, in a thousand, is treated without the use of Mercury in some form. Mercury rots the bones, and the diseases it produces are worse than any other kind of blood or skin disease can be. DR. PEMBERTON'S STILLINGIA & QUEEN'S DELIGHT is the only medicine upon which a hope of recovery from Scrofula, Syphilis and Mercurial diseases is based, and is reasonably founded, and the [illegible] $10,000 will be paid the proprietors if Mercury, or any ingredient not purely vegetable and harmless can be found in it.

General Sherman's Funeral.

NEWPORT R. I., March 20.—The funeral of general Thomas W. U. S. A., was solemnized from Thirty-Episcopal Church at noon today. The forces at Fort Adams and the Newport artillery, the latter escorting Governor Vanzandt and staff, formed near the church General R. H. Jackson, U. S. A., being in command of the line. The casket enclosing the remains was borne by six sergants from Fort Adams, to and from the Church. The bearers were General Vogdes, Commandant, at Fort Adams, General G. K. Warren, U. S. A., Captain F. M. Ramsay, Commandant at the Torpedo Station, Captain M. C. Warin U. S. A., Colonel William Gelpin, Colonel Lewis Richmond, Henry Ledyard and David J. Could.

The church was filled, those who had been invited including general officers of the State militia, officer from the torpedo station, Fort Adams and the city officials. The Rev. G J. Magill, assisted by the Rev. W. J. Magill, officiated. The usual Episcopal service was read but no remarks were made.

The funeral cortege then marched to the cemetery, whi'e minute guns were fired from the fort. Three volleys of musketry were fired over the grave.

Preparation for the Murdered Actor.

NEW YORK, March 22.—A meeting of actors and theatrical managers was held to-day to arrange for the reception of the body of B. F. Porter the murdered actor and also to make preparations for benefits for the relief of his aged mother and sick wife, The meeting was informal but a committee was appointed to notify all actors and professionals that another meeting would be held to-morrow afternoon, which they were invited to attend. Instructions was given as to the inquiring of the price of a burial plot in Evergreen Cemetery. The funeral will take place on Wednesday next from the church of Transfugation.

French Assembly.

LONDON, March, 22.—The report of of the committee on the question of the return of the Senate and Chamber Deputies from Versailles to Paris were presented to-day. It recommends convocation of the Chamber as a National Assembly for the purpose of making the necessary change in the constitution. The Times correspondent at Paris says: "The French Government is not likely to oppose the project. It will probably stipulate for the complete control over and prefecture of the police, which is now partly supported by the municipality, but the removal of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies cannot any how be effected for some time as there is no building in Paris to accomodate the Senato.

The Disaster at Szegeden.

LONDON, March 23.—A dispatch from Pesth to the London Times says: "Household animals are constantly appearing on the surface of the water at Szegeden. The same would doubtless be the case with human corpses if any considerable number were buried in the ruins. Twelve hundred of the people of Szegden have taken refuge at Temesvar, including families with six children. These are all poor people from the lowest lying portion of the town. Not one of these families misses a single child or domestic. Five hundred and sixty-seven families and three hundred and forty-two single people have taken refuge at Mako, none of whom misses a relative. Six blind beggars reached Temesvar safely."

$9,000 For Lloyd.

ATLANTA, GA., March 22.—In the U. S. Circuit court to-day Calvan Lloyd gained a verdict of nine thousand dollars against John Conley, a former revenue collector here. Lloyds tobacco factory was seized on the charge of tax unpaid and it was afterwards proven that the tax had been paid. Judge Woods of the Circuit court has under consideration the case of Rule against Marshal Fitz Simmons for a riot exacting certain warrants of U. S. Commissioners. Fitz Simmons claims to be acting under the instructions of the Attorney General. The decision may be given Monday.

The Midnight Storm,

MEMPHIS March 22 —A storm of the severest nature swept over Memphis just after midnight, it came from the Southwest and continued for 3 hours. During its progress lightning struck the Memphis Cotton & Woolen mills situated in the Southern portion of the city, which were nearly consumed. These mills were valued at $90,000, and employed a force of 125 persons which were thus thrown out of work. Insurance amounts $60 000.

Storekeepers and Gaugers,

WASHINGTON, March 22.—J. T. McIntosh, L. S. Benbow, W. D. Mason, W. K. Gibbs, L. A. Robinson, A. Higgins, W. G. Hendrix, M. Cass Stevens, Jasper H. Crawford, E. Starbuck, Robert H. Ford, R. W. Woodruff and J. M Armstrong were appointed storekeepers and gaugers in the sixth district of North Carolina, Charles R. Donegan, second district of Alabama, W. R. Doss, and W. Service, fifth district of North Carolina.

Relief for Szededin East Roumelia, &c.

LONDON, March 22.—Contributions to the fund instituted by Lord Mayor for the relief of sufferers by the Szededin inundation has reached the sum of seventy thousand pounds.

The scheme for a mixed occupation of East Roumelia after the 3rd may continue to be pressed by Austria Its ultimate acceptance is probable, as the only alternative is anarchy and bloodshed, necessitating further Russian interference.

Stiff Wind and a Heavy Sea.

OCEAN BEACH, N. J., March 22 —A stiff northeast wind and heavy sea have prevented the coast wrecking steamer Relief from laying cables and anchors from the stranded bark "Homeward Bound." The bark is rolling heavily and nothing can be done toward saving her till the wind abates. She has swung broadside out to sea, bow to northward and is between the bar and beach in the undertow.

Cotton Operations,

BLACKBURN MASS. March 22.—A meeting of the Cotton Operatives was held here to-day to discuss the proposed reduction of wages decided almost unanimously to adjourn until all the masters can be interviewed.

The Death Sentence.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN., March 22.—In the Hoyt trial, the defence failing to establish that one of the jury had expressed an opinion before the trial. A motion for an arrest of judgment was overrule' and E lwin Hoyt was sentenced to be hanged May 14th, 1880.

Reconstructed Committee.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Reconstructed Senate Committee on frauds in the last election known as the "Teller Committee" met to-day but transacted no business beyond authorizing Chairman Wallace to appoint a clerk and other officers for the committee and adjourned until Wednesday.

THE ISHMAELITES.

Who they are and What they do

A YOUNG WOMAN STABBED TWICE BY BURGLARS WHILE DEFENDING HER HOME IN PENNSYLVANIA—THE GAY MRS. LAWRENCE FREED FROM THE BONDS OF MATRIMONIAL.

READING, Pa., March 20.—A daring outrage was committed by masked thieves at the country residence of the Hon. Henry Hottenstein, an ex-member of the State Legislature, who lives a short distance from this city. The family had retired for the night, and Mr. and Mrs. Hottenstein were asleep. Miss Sallie, the eldest daughter, had also retired, but had not fa len to sleep. She first heard a noise under one of the arbors. It was then about 9½ o'clock. They have a small dog, which is generally left in the kitchen during the night, but last night he was in the dining-room, and he set up a terrible barking. Miss Sallie started down stairs to see what was the matter. When she opened the door leading into the dining room, she was confronted by three men in disguise, one of whom immediately knocked the lamp out of her hand and stabbed her twice, cutting two ugly gashes about six inches long. She screamed and started up stairs, bolting the door after her. She then fainted on the stairs. The would-be murderers tried to follow her, but the bolted door stopped them.

The family upstairs in the meantime, made free use of their lungs, and the cry of "murder !" rang out on the night air. H. S. Daub, of Pottstown, and Daniel Borneman, of Limerick, who were spending the evening near by, hearing the cry, at once went to the rescue. When near the house they called out to know what was the matter. The answer came back: "Help! for God's sake! Some one in the house is trying to murder us." Miss Hottenstein was carried to her chamber, her clothing dripping with blood. She was badly cut below the abdomen, and in the thick part of the thigh. Through fright and loss of blood she was speechless. Medical aid was summoned, and the stab wounds were found to be deeper than was at first supposed. Fears are entertained that tetanus will set in and destroy her life.

Later in the night she was strong enough to tell her father that she knew the man who stabbed her and knocked the lamp out of her hand. Her statement implicates a young man living in the neighborhood, but as yet no arrest have been made. The police are seeking a thorough inquiry into the case. The house narrowly escaped destruction by the burning coal oil. Miss Hottenstein is highly respectable and quite accomplished, and is a woman of considerable nerve. It required all her strength to regain her feet and bolt the door leading up to the enclosed stairway which she had descended.

Blaine Displeased.

HE WANTED, BUT FAILED, TO GET A CHAIRMANSHIP.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The Senate elected its committees to-day, and then took a recess to await the President's message. It is understood that Senator Blaine is very much displeased because he has been unable to obtain a chairmanship. He demanded it on the ground that his prominence in the Republican party threw a great deal of work on his shoulders, and entitled him to a clerk. The other Republican Senators smiled at Mr. Blaine's demand, and told him to call around some other time, after he had served longer as a Senator.

Solicitations About Thurman.

Dayton Journal.

Thurman repeated the blunder of his Hamilton speech in throwing his influence for Blackburn at the wrong time. He flopped over to the flatists just when the tide began to ebb, and lost his prestige, and came out for Blackburn just as the latter began to realize that his case was hopeless. The Ohio Senator needs a political guardian.

None of Your Funeral.

Atlanta Constitution,

Some of the Republican organs complain that Randall is for Tilden. What puzzles us is why these patriotic editors should worry and fret about Democrats at all.

THE SOUTHERN STUDENTS' HAND-BOOK.—This contribution to our School Literature differs from all the so called "Southern Speakers" heretofore printed, in this:—that its matter is exclusively of Southern origin. But it makes no attempt at a complete survey of Southern oratory and literature, its chief aim being to represent, as fully as circumstances permit, the "New South" in oratory, dialectic, poetry and general literature, and omitting the hackneyed pieces which for more than half a century have done duty in all the Readers and Speakers in the land, as representative of the "Old South," thus presenting to our Schools a fresh and interesting compilation, illustrative of Southern life, sentiment and thought in their best phases, during the exciting period through which the States have recently passed. The Celebrated Seven Spring Iron and Sum Mass

This is decidedly the most useful, besides being the most effilent Family Medicine ever placed within the reach of any people. Its reputation extends far and wide, and its great popularity is due entirely to its own merits. For relieving Sick and Nervous Headache! it may be truly said, to have no equal Dyspeptics find it just the remedy fo their troubles. Mothers and daughters have long since discovered in its use a "panacea" for their worst ills; and now we have the testimonies of two eminent ministers of the gospel, from Southern cities, settiug forth its specific effects in other more dreaded and troublesome diseases.

Rev. John F. Mayne, Theological Seminary, Columbia, S. C., writes: "Am afflicted with that terrible disease, 'Diabetis;' am using the 'Seven Springs Mass' with considerable degree of relief; is the only remedy I have yet found to suit my case; want to continue its use until a cure is effected if possible. Send worth of the enclosed P. O. order immediately.

LANDRUM & LITCHFIELD.
Abingdon, Va.

Mar. 10.

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant origin. At this season of the year especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late that a fever or lung trouble has already set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken, a cure would have resulted, and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the throat and lungs, Boschee's German Syrup has proven itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.

Bargains he'll give you when you call
For No. 10 is all and all.
Of other houses youhear them talk;
In Fayetteville street just take a walk
And only ask for No. 10,
Kept by the most ingenious of men,
And when his friends by chance drop in
Then forth he comes, Lord what a grin,
And to their wondering eyes displays
Such heaps of brackets and window shades.
His pictures are exposed to public view
And a variety of cord to suspend them too,
His looking glasses and toilet cases
Will help adornyour forms and faces;
Picture frames and mouldings too
In great variety, black, brown and blue.
His window cornices and lambrequins fine,
will make your rooms and parlor shine.
Perforated mottoes, and white holly baskets.
And every other sort of stuff,
Of which he hopes to have enough.
So now he bids your all adieu
And wishes a happy new year too.

A Remedy that has been Remedied.

The invincible repugnance felt by almost every one to the smell and flavor of Cod Liver Oil, has prevented tens of thousands of the victims of debility, from reaping the benefits of its peculiar healing and nutritive properties. The almost hopeless consumptive, the martyr to Rheumatism, the barely living shadow of men, women and children that emerge from the clutches of malarial fevers, all of these know, or at least their doctors know, that of all discovered remedies, this Oil is the best, and often the only one that will build up their wasted bodies, and and restore th ir shattered nerves, and far more effective than the Oil by itself is Scott's Emuls on of it, with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. This is the finest and most natural food and medicine in the world, and wholly deprived of its disagreeable qualities. Sold by Wm, Simpson, Druggist. March 4-d&w3w

FROM A PROMINENT VETERINARY SURGEON.

Mr. Wm M. GILES, Chemist, Sir: I have practiced extensively in Europe and America, and your new discovery, Liniment Iodide of Ammonia, surpasses anything I ever used for splints, strains, lameness in the limbs or shoulders, weakness across the kidneys, wind galls, and hard, bony swellings on the joints. It is truly marvelous.

Yours very truly,
RALPH OGLE,
Veterinary Surgeon, 330 W. 25th St., N. Y.

TO THE PUBLIC.

It will gratify the many friends and customers of the house of Petty & Jones to know that its affairs are in sound and healthy condition.

They have always, are now doing, and will continue to pay one hundred cents in the dollar, (100 cents to $1).

They claim praise for doing so, in a time of such financial stringency, insolvency, and compromise.

They set their faces like flint to do this as a matter of high commercial principle

They are doing a largely increasing and increased business.

Their JOBBING TRADE has showed a large advance.

They have sold more goods by the case, package, and piece, the past season than ever before.

The management is strictly on the plan of the large and successful dry goods houses of our large cities.

They buy often At first hands. Pay cash and are receiving new goods every week.

They will from this time be in receipt of a varied assortment of select goods of the best makes suitable for the market to which they invite the attention and inspection of buyers, wholesale and retail.
